The Biology Department at Hamilton College invites applications for a one-year visiting assistant professor position, effective July 1, 2018. Ph.D. and teaching experience expected. We seek candidates to teach (1) a lecture/lab course in physiology, (2) a lecture/lab course in anatomy, and (3) a lecture course that complements the department's offerings. Funds are available to support student-faculty research and conference travel. Send curriculum vitae, one page teaching statement, and contact information for three people willing to provide letters of recommendation to Interfolio at https://apply.interfolio.com/48797. Questions may be directed to Herm Lehman, Chair, Department of Biology, Hamilton College, 198 College Hill Road, Clinton, NY 13323-1292 (hlehman@hamilton.edu). Review of applications will begin March 1, 2018 and continue until the position is filled.

We are seeking candidates who can demonstrate their experience in teaching or working with diverse student populations. Your cover letter should address the ways in which you would further the College's goal of building a diverse and inclusive educational environment.

Hamilton (www.hamilton.edu) is a residential liberal arts college located in upstate New York. Applicants with dual-career considerations can find other and nearby academic job listings at www.upstatenyhere.org, as well as additional information for spouses and partners here: Opportunities for Spouses and Partners. Hamilton College is an affirmative action, equal opportunity employer committed to diversity in all areas of the campus community (www.hamilton.edu/diversity). Hamilton provides domestic partner benefits. Candidates from underrepresented groups in higher education are especially encouraged to apply.