

Program Description: The School of Dental Medicine at LECOM (Bradenton, FL campus) is seeking candidates for a full-time non-tenure track, 12-month faculty position at the Assistant/Associate Professor of Physiology level. Successful candidates will have a desire to teach and mentor students at the graduate/professional level, including facilitation of Problem-Based Learning (PBL) groups and the delivery of traditional lectures. In addition, faculty members are expected to develop an active and independent program of scholarship. All areas of expertise will be considered.

The successful applicant will have a Doctorate level of achievement (Ph.D., D.O., M.D., or Ed D) and prior experience of 2-5 years teaching physiology to medical or dental students. Preference will be given to individuals with a progressive and innovative teaching philosophy and previous experience in a small group teaching or facilitating environment.

Additional qualifications to strengthen the applicant include: a strong desire to foster learning in an innovative curriculum, advisement and mentorship of dental students, a progressive teaching philosophy, and the ability to contribute to the development of the college through research and service. Faculty rank and salary are dependent on qualifications and experience.
