#SexGender15
PURPOSE OF CONFERENCE:
The scientific community as a whole is discovering that there are significant differences between males and females that not only affect the normal physiology and the responses to pathological conditions, but also their response to therapeutics. The major objective of this conference will be to gather a critical mass of expert clinical and basic researchers with interests in the role of sex hormones, sex chromosomes, and gender in cardiovascular-renal diseases, obesity and metabolic syndrome, and population studies to promote the exchange of ideas, develop scientific relationships, and to promote potential collaborations in the future. This is a field that is ripe for future translational research that will become more important as more gender differences are found.

DEADLINES:

LOCATION: Annapolis, Maryland
Located on the Chesapeake Bay, Annapolis is a city with a distinct heritage. Known as “A Museum Without Walls”, it’s filled with history, culture, visual and performing arts. With the nation’s largest estuary and home to the U.S. Naval Academy since 1845, there’s plenty to do and learn about maritime life in Annapolis. As for dry land, there’s an 8 acre woodland garden and over 87 miles of trails. Take in a performance of the Annapolis Opera, Annapolis Symphony Orchestra or the Ballet Theatre of Maryland or visit some of the 25 fine art galleries. If you’re looking for nightlife or eateries, there are numerous exciting locales and some of the best seafood in the country. Please visit www.visitannapolis.org for more information.
