2014-2015 PECOP Fellows

APS is pleased to announce the 2014-2015 Physiology Education Community of Practice (PECOP) Fellows. The fellows participate in the 2014 Institute on Teaching and Learning, submit learning resources to the Life Science Teaching Resource Community (www.lifescitrc.org) and write entries for the PECOP Blog.

The applicants and awardees represented diverse institutions and diverse backgrounds:
- Geographic: Awardees from 12 states and 15 institutions;
- Gender: 86% of applicants (86%) and 100% of awardees were women;
- URM: 24% of applicants and 33% of awardees were from URM groups. 19% of applicants and 62% of awardees were from Minority Serving Institutions (MSI); and
- Institution type: 43% of awardees were from community colleges (CC), 33% were from four-year institutions (4YR), and 34% were from colleges/universities (C/U).

2014-2015 PECOP Fellows

- Nancy Aguilar-Roca, University of California, Irvine, C/U
- Roseann Berg, Foothill College, Mission College, San Jose City College, CC, MSI
- Sydella Blatch, Stevenson University, C/U,
- Sarah Blythe, Washington & Lee University, 4YR
- Lynn Diener, Mount Mary University, C/U
- Jan Foster, North Greenville University, C/U
- Sharon Gusky, Northwestern Connecticut Community College, CC
- Rachael Hannah, University of Maine at Presque Isle, C/U, MSI
- Kim Henige, CSU Northridge, C/U, MSI
- Jessica Ibarra, University of the Incarnate Word, C/U, MSI
- Adrienne King, Southern Polytechnic State University, C/U
- Robin McFarland, Cabrillo College, CC, MSI
- Lucinda Rankin, University of Arizona, C/U
- Kathleen Seiler, Champlain College, C/U
- Susan Weiner, Roosevelt University, IL